

One Man Dead, 3 Missing in Stuttgart Blast

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Explosions and fire erupted in the heart of the world's largest rice co-operative at Stuttgart Monday, killing at least one man, injuring three and leaving three unaccounted for.

Several explosions of undetermined origin rumbled through an old rice hull house valued at $100,000, destroying the house and jeopardizing the $5 million Arkansas Rice Growers Co. - operative complex just one block off downtown Stuttgart.

The badly burned body of a man was found several hours after the explosions. The body was not immediately identified. It was found beneath a boxcar which had been destroyed by fire.

The injured were Eddie Huff, 23, and Robert Casey, 25, both of Stuttgart, in serious condition with burns; and Charles Dillingham, about 25, who was cut by flying glass.

Names of the missing were withheld by the company. The dead man, Huff and Casey and the three missing men were working at the hull house when the explosions ripped through it. Dillingham, also an employee of the co-op, was injured about two hours after the first explosion rocked Stuttgart at 5:05 p.m.

The fire continued to burn early today and officials said it probably would burn throughout the day. Unconfirmed reports said the missing men were still in the wreckage of the hull house, which is designated old Mill A. Rescue workers could not get into the area because of the fire.

James Mason, administrative assistant to executive vice president and general manager L. C. Carter, said no damage estimate was available. Carter was in Washington, D.C.

Fire Chief Carl Borchelt said the loss would run between $500,000 and $1 million.

Buffalo R. Is Made a Nat'l Park

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department made public today a National Park Service report recommending establishment of a 128-mile Buffalo National River in the Ozark mountains of north-central Arkansas.

"Although man-made impoundments are causing the rapid disappearance of free-flowing streams in Mid-America, the Buffalo River remains one of the few rivers still possessing exceptional wilderness value," the report said.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the report, issued for information purposes, is still being reviewed by the department. He said its publication should not be construed either as approval or disapproval by the department.

The proposed area, embracing about 103,000 acres, would be a somewhat elongated strip along the banks of the Buffalo in Newton, Searcy, Marion and Baxter Counties. It is described as readily accessible to more than 11 million people living within a 250-mile radius.

The report said clear, cool water is one of the noteworthy attributes of the Buffalo River which flows eastward through forested mountains and small valleys before joining with the White River in northwest Arkansas.

The relationship of wild mountain beauty and spring fed streams, the report said, is ideally suited for recreational opportunities such as camping, fishing, hiking, swimming, picnicking, sightseeing, and other outdoor activities.

The State of Arkansas owns about 1,770 acres of the proposed area; the U.S. Forest Service administers 630; and the remaining 100,600 acres are privately owned. The report does not estimate the cost of acquiring the land.

The report said construction of federal water projects, known as Lone Rock and Gilbert reservoirs, has been proposed but that the building of either or both "would change the character of the Buffalo that it would no longer be a nationally significant free-flowing river."

Hoffa, Seven Associates Are Indicted

CHICAGO (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Teamsters' Union head, and seven associates were indicted today by a federal grand jury that charged them with fraudulently obtaining more than $20 million in loans from the Central States Pension Fund.

The indictment contained 28 counts and followed two years of investigation by the grand jury and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It charged the eight men diverted more than $1 million from the loans for their personal benefit. The total allegedly diverted included at least $100,000 which the government charged was used to help extricate Hoffa from personal financial involvement.

This included his operations in Sun Valley, Inc., a Florida homes development in Broward County.

JFK to Push for More Intergration

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to push for voluntary desegregation of hotels, restaurants, stores and theaters when he meets at the White House today with 100 businessmen who have outlets in the South.

Whether or not his persuasive approach works the President is likely to go ahead with plans to ask Congress to approve a heavy package of civil rights bills.

Agreement in principle on a civil rights package was reached at a conference Monday between the President and Democratic congressional leaders Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey D-Minn. reported.

Humphrey the acting Democratic leader said the bills would include legislation to ban racial segregation both in private business and in public facilities. One objective he said would be to give the attorney general power to start a federal court suit on behalf of any individual denied his civil rights.

Kennedy's special message on civil rights will be his second to Congress this year. The first was on Feb. 28.

A great deal has happened since then: Negro picketing rioting and arrests in Birmingham Jackson Tallahassee Philadelphia and other cities. These events have convinced Kennedy that more is needed than the mild proposals he sent to Congress in February.

But the President reportedly has rejected all suggestions that he make some more dramatic gesture than another special message to Congress.

The civil rights package as outlined by Humphrey would include:

1. A prohibition on discrimination by private businesses in interstate commerce.
2. A prohibition on discrimination by all public accommodations such as swimming pools railroad stations and bus depots.
3. Federal aid to desegregated school districts needing financial help.
4. Power for the attorney general to initiate suits on behalf of individuals who have been denied their civil rights.
5. A renewal of proposals first made in February including increased protection of voting rights and an extension of the life and powers of the Civil Rights Commission.

Final Oral Polio Shots Here Sunday

The third and final round in the fight against crippling polio will get under way in Hempstead County Sunday. Three clinics will be open.

Sunday will be culminate a campaign sponsored by the Hempstead Medical Society to banish this terrible disease. In order to be completely immune persons must take all three types. Each of the three types of Sabin Vaccine will immunize persons to one of the three polio viruses.

As before, the vaccine will be in liquid form, but, not on sugar cubes as rumored. Persons who have missed the first two doses of the Sabin Vaccine should go ahead and take the Type III vaccine, then contact their family physicians for the other two types.

All persons over six weeks of age should take the vaccine.

"Please don't live to regret not taking this opportunity to free our town and county from polio. If you think you are too old to have polio, did you know you can still be a germ carrier and transmit the polio virus to others in your own family or your friends?"

It is hoped that no one will be too busy Sunday afternoon to take out a few minutes to run by one of the clinics and get the vaccine. This could save a lifetime of this crippling disease.

Although you have taken all of your Salk Vaccine shots, you should take the Sabin vaccine because it, unlike the former, prevents the carrier stage of the disease.

No make-up for Type III will be held in Hempstead County Sunday. Those taking the vaccine are asked to pay 25 cents to help cover the cost of the vaccine. However, those unable to pay will not be turned away. Please bring your cards with you to the clinics, as this will be your permanent record. Clinics will be located at the Armory in Hope, School gym in Washington and Blevins two to five p. m. (25).

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair and warm weather is expected to prevail in Arkansas through Wednesday.

By Thursday, however, the U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts a chance of thundershowers in western Arkansas and showers could move across the state by the weekend.

High temperatures in the low 90s were forecast for today with tonight's lows expected in the 60-68 range.

Monday's maximum temperatures ranged from 84 at Harrison to 92 at Little Rock and the lows from 60 at Fayetteville to 67 at Pine Bluff and Texarkana.

No rain was reported in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Louisiana Conviction Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned today the murder conviction of a Louisiana Negro whose confession was broadcast on television to the community before he was tried.

Counsel for the Negro, Wilbert Rideau, contended that by the TV showing, the accused was "allowed to convict himself" before the public in an area from which residents were called to be jurors at his trial.

Justice Stewart delivered the 7-2 decision. Justice Clark dissented in an opinion in which Justice Harlan joined.

Rideau, 19 at the time, was alleged to have entered the Southgate branch of the Gulf National Bank in Lake Charles, La., the night of Feb. 16, 1961, compelled three employees at pistol point to fill a suitcase with money, and then forced the three into the car of a woman clerk.

Louisiana's Supreme Court said Rideau drove to a lonely spot, lined the three employees up in a row, and fired six shots at them. The clerk, Mrs. Julia Ferguson, 46, was killed. Mrs. Dora McCain, 30, another clerk, and the bank manager, Jay H. Hickman, were wounded but later recovered. The state court said Mrs. Ferguson after being shot tried to rise and Rideau stabbed her to death with a hunting knife.

Rideau's penalty was fixed at death.

Security Laws Overhaul to Be Sweeping

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed overhaul and tightening of the securities laws—one of the most sweeping in the history of investor protection legislation—was sent to Congress today by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC asked enactment of the entire bundle during this session, and told the House Interstate Commerce Committee that it believes the securities industry will support it as constructive and practical.

The commission omitted some proposals which it said earlier would be transmitted this year, but SEC Chairman William L. Cary indicated these will be forthcoming later, probably for consideration in 1964.

The proposals filed today would: Extend to thousands of corporations whose stock is bought and sold "over the counter"—instead of on the organized exchanges—the full-disclosure and financial reporting requirements which now apply only to stocks listed on the exchanges.

Tighten the standards of character, training and experience required of persons newly entering the business as broker-dealers representatives or salesmen, and enlarge SEC's disciplinary controls over broker-dealers and their employees.

Curb to some extent some abuses which have occurred in "hot issues"—new stocks whose prices have soared beyond normal patterns of movement—by requiring that prospective buyers be furnished with prospectuses, giving full financial information, for not less than 90 days after the stock is issued. The present requirement is 40 days.

In New York, the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange, the two largest in the nation, quickly voiced strong support of the SEC program "in principle."

They specifically praised the proposals for fuller public disclosure by corporations of financial information. Both exchanges already enforce rather stringent requirements along this line.

Airliner Down in the Alaskan Gulf, 101 Feared Dead

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Scattered debris from a military-chartered airliner was found today 60 miles off the British Columbia coast. There was no sign any of the 101 men, women and children survived.

Search vessel crews recovered life jackets, luggage, clothing and a metal piece at the scene where the Northwest Airlines DC7 apparently plunged into the Pacific.

Discovery of the metal section, 5 feet by 16 feet, seemed to wipe out the last faint hope that the plane might have stayed afloat long enough for use of life rafts.

Monday night a Canadian pilot had sighted unflashed life rafts.

Officers on a Coast Guard cutter at the scene, 60 miles west of Graham Island, B.C., identified the debris as from the plane.

The four-engine plane left McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash., at 8:30 a.m. Monday for Elmendorf.

The last message from the pilot, Capt. Albert Olson of Sumner, Wash., came two hours, 36 minutes later. He radioed the air station at Sandspit, B. C. for permission to climb from 14,000 to 18,000 feet.

Another airliner was northbound at 18,000 one minute behind but air control tried to message Olson to go to 16,000. There was no response. After that neither the ground station nor the other plane could contact the DC7.

The missing plane carried six inflatable life rafts with capacities of 20 passengers each. It also carried 100 life jackets.

The Coast Guard said a person could not live in the 40-degree water more than 10 to 15 minutes. Besides the Coast Guard cutter, a Japanese freighter and a seaplane also were on the scene.

The passenger list showed 65 Army and Navy men, 29 dependents and one Air Force civilian. They gathered from all parts of the United States at McChord to

May Repeal the Truck Act

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Monday that the part of the 1963 truck weight act which increased the legal maximum length of trucks in Arkansas may have to be repealed or amended.

The provision is part of Act 78, which increased the maximum truck weight from 56,000 pounds to 280 pounds. It increased from 50 to 55 feet the legal maximum truck length.

Faubus said soybean, cotton seed and grain operators in Lee and Mississippi counties want the length-increase repealed because thousands of dollars would have to be spent to change lifts and scales to meet the new lengths.

The governor said he may recommend that a special session of the legislature amend or modify the law.

Asks Freedom on Check Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James D. Cody of Nettleton and Gardner Lee Muse of Memphis asked the Arkansas Supreme Court Monday to be freed in a Jonesboro check forgery case.

They said they had been tried once and another trial would place them in double jeopardy. They are charged with forging a $43.37 check last November.

In the first trial, in April, Circuit Judge John S. Mosby of Lepanto declared a mistrial upon request by the state. The defendants contend that the state completed presentation of its case before Mosby declared the mistrial.

Millions Over World Mourn Pope's Death

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Countless millions around the world mourned Pope John XXIII today as the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church began preparations to pick his successor.

The 81-year-old spiritual ruler of half a billion Catholics died Monday night after four days of agonizing suffering from stomach tumor and peritonitis.

The Pope's body dressed in white papal robes and a red velvet cap lay in state in the reception hall of his Vatican apartment. Cardinals and diplomats accredited to the Vatican came to the bier to pay homage.

The Pope's body was to be carried later across St. Peter's Square and into St. Peter's Basilica the largest church in Christendom. It will lie in state there until Thursday night.

The public will be admitted to St. Peter's Wednesday and Thursday to pay homage. Thursday evening the body will be placed in a crypt in the basilica in a private burial ceremony.

The Vatican made no announcement of the date for the state funeral. It probably will be toward the end of the nine-day period of official mourning.

As they mourned the cardinals began daily meetings to deal with the routine affairs of the church and to plan the conclave that will meet between June 18 and June 21 to elect Pope John's successor.

The first meeting was attended only by cardinals who were in

Networks in Tribute to Pope John

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The three major television networks paid reverent tribute to Pope John XXIII with special programs Monday night.

Although he was credited with "creating a new image of the papacy" and his official achievements were stressed in each program they all emphasized the kindly gentle qualities that made him the most beloved Pope of modern times.

All networks obviously had access to the same picture material so there was much duplication in the three programs.

There were films of the Pope visiting a children's ward in a hospital with delightful closeups of the expressions on the faces of the children and the smiling old man. He was shown visiting prisoners in a Roman jail explaining that "because you could not come to see me I came to see you."

But it was ABC which had the most revealing film clip—a warm and wonderful moment when its correspondent John Casserly greeted the Pope formally and the spiritual ruler of half a billion Catholics responded by asking him the names of his children.

ABC determined to re-launch next season the once-popular and big-money quiz show is now involved in plans to demonstrate—hopefully conclusively—that the program "100 Grand" is positively rig proof and tamper proof.

Nobody seems to know much about the show except its producers and they aren't talking—yet. There are rumors that the contestants will ask each other questions and reports the show will travel from city to city.

At any rate ABC plans a "major news conference" within the next few weeks to explain all.

Meanwhile a search has started for future contestants eager to pick up the top prize of $100,000. The show invites people who feel they "know everything about something" to write letters of application. (Betty Clark Box 467 New York 36 N.Y. if you know everything about something.)

Impressive letters will result in telephone calls to the writers who will be asked 10 questions on the subject of his alleged expertise. Those passing the original test will undergo further more exhaustive examinations.

In what I considered to be an act of final humiliation—degradation—offense—Smokey and Dick Hinton were asked to approach the bench, and Smokey was asked how he pleaded to the charge.

Smokey did not jerk a muscle. "Not guilty," he said firmly. He and Dick returned to the table.

David Ostefeld then presented some papers which he said was the coroner's report. He would like to enter it into the court record—as evidence—

Dick was asked to do something called "stipulate." I didn't know exactly what it meant.

Dick asked for the report. I leafed through it, agreed to have it entered.

Ostefeld said that he also meant to have the coroner testify rather than have the report read to the jury.

Judge Bruton agreed, but urged that there be no undue lengthening of the hearing.

David said, oh no, he didn't want to do that! In that interest he would call the coroner as his first witness, rather than the Chief of Police who had actually been the first law officer to reach the scene of the crime—

Dick objected to the term, and there was some talk about the matter. Keyes whispered something to his father, and when Dick sat down again, Smokey spoke to him.

Dick nodded, and made a note. The coroner came to the witness stand, and was sworn.

Missouri does not provide for a medical examiner. The coroner can be a layman, a dentist, or even a doctor like Marvin Brieger.

"Tell the jury, please," said David Ostefeld. "Just what happened, Dr. Brieger, on the morning in question."

"I was called to—uh—the hospital around—well—uh—it was about 7:30. I was eating breakfast. I was—uh—told that—uh—there had been a killing. Naturally, I got right with it. Had to do a little—uh—telephoning. My own professional commitments, went over there, and up to the operating room. They—uh—got it up on the third floor at High View."

"Tell us what you found there, Dr. Brieger," Ostefeld said, a bit quickly.

"Uh—yes sir. Well, what I found there was a dead man."

"You knew him?"

"No, sir, I did not. But of course, later, my office—uh—identified him."

The man next to me stood up.

I was startled. I had almost forgotten him.

The Judge rapped for attention, and frowned at my neighbor.

"Sir—" he began.

"That man is using a recorder of some kind," said the strange man. He pointed across the room to Lopp, who was sitting, huddled down in his chair, his coat somewhat concealing a device of some sort in his lap.

The Judge said something, and the policeman went over to Lopp.

"Walkie—talkie," decided the man beside me. Now I looked up at him curiously. Who was he? Rather nice looking, his hair tipped with gray.

"If there is a rule on no photographs," said my neighbor, sitting down, "it should cover a broadcast device."

It did. Things quieted down. Lopp borrowed some paper from Bledsoe, and took out his ball-point pen.

The Judge, still angry, told the witness to continue. I was still speculating about my neighbor.

He sat with his arms folded, his head tilted, his face absorbed. But I was getting the idea that he was aware, in detail, of every aspect of that courtroom, that no tone of voice, no movement or word, escaped him. I was sure that, without seeming to do so, he had thoroughly looked me over, and Lovey—and Aunt Bean, who would have a spasm if she knew what was going on.

"The fellow was—uh—named Ward Weber. I understand he was generally—uh—called 'Buck.'"

Betty Hinton's nemesis. "Buck was 24 years old. We found that out through the straw boss at the building company office. Buck and an older brother had come in here to work in concrete."

David Ostefeld looked annoyed. "Just tell what you saw at High View hospital that morning, please."

"Buck—uh—had been shot," he continued. "He had a slug—in his head."

I looked at Smokey. His hand was on Keyes' forearm, but his face showed nothing.

"Had he been shot at close range?" asked the prosecutor.

"No, sir. I'd say from—uh—from a distance of perhaps 10 feet. Maybe a little—uh—less."

"And he was dead?" asked the

HARTFORD Conn. (AP)—State senators were confronted with a forest of legislative traffic signs when they arrived at the Senate chamber Monday.

About 75 wives of state policemen were manning the gallery in a show of support for a short work week for their husbands.

Many carried signs similar to those which state troopers place along the highways—but with a difference.

The wives were backing a bill that would reduce the maximum work week of state policemen to 50 hours.

Birmingham Negroes Appeal Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—

Negro attorneys are taking to a federal appeals court their request for an immediate injunction to strike down the segregated school system in racially troubled Birmingham.

Attorney W. L. Williams Jr. said the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans would be asked for a preliminary injunction pending an appeal of a lower court ruling. Notice of appeal was filed Monday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne refused last Tuesday to order school desegregation but warned he would order submission of an integration plan unless school officials administer a state pupil placement law without discrimination this fall.

Lynne held that the complainants in a 1960 suit had not exhausted their remedies under the placement law, which has been held at face value by the U.S. Supreme Court.

In another court battle, Lynne heard Justice Department attorneys press Monday for an injunction barring Gov. George C. Wallace from interfering with scheduled enrollment of Negroes at the University of Alabama next week.

Lynne said he hoped to hand down a decision by Wednesday. The university trustees announced acceptance of a third Negro student for the summer session opening Monday. The trustee said James A. Hood, 20, of East Gadsden, Ala., probably would enroll at the same time Vivian J.

CHATTER

By "BILL"

I was in Dallas attending Fashion Market last week and of all the get-rich-quick schemes I heard the most logical is from the person who would just LOVE to have a nickel from every woman who says . . . "I'm going on a diet tomorrow."

That chunk of dough would make the Internal Revenue men sit up and take notice, and no doubt there would be some tax exemptions because it all came from a long-term gain . . .

Well, anyway, a quick glance into the fashion future makes us all want to look different, and that we will do if we follow the trends.

According to those in the know . . . hair-do's will be varied but the bee-hive rats-nest, ruffled-up look is definitely being replaced by the casual, comb-able, do-you-or-don't-you look. And nine chances to ten you will . . .

color. The unpleated sheath and tunic dress will be better than ever. Waistlines are where you choose to place them, or you needn't show one at all. The shirtdress is NOT going out; just being revised. Knits are and will continue to be good, in all styles from play clothes to cocktail dresses and evidently somebody will come up with a knitted mink. (A knitted yacht was advertised in London.) Suits will always be the most versatile and practical garments in a woman's wardrobe. Long dinner dresses are back simply because they are so flattering. Slacks and all pants will have a little more leg room, the skin-tight, can't-sit look, is out. The little black dress that went EVERYWHERE has had its day and is being replaced by a basic one in bright and brilliant color. Yes, there is even a change in perfume; the heavy Oriental influence has given way to the fresh, feminine, difficult to determine scent, which is sprayed on clothes in the closet.

These are just a few of the fashion forecasts; no telling what will develop. In the meantime, we are always watching the trend; we have the newest in clothes and accessories, and we invite you to shop today, at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

Motion for New Trail Denied

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A motion for a new trial for convicted murderer Frederick Rush, 26, was denied Monday by Sebastian Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe. Rush was convicted April 31 in the fatal shooting of his stepfather. Paul Rush, 56 of Fort Smith, at Fort Smith on May 13, 1962.

The next step is for Rush's attorneys to appeal the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Wolfe set July 8 as the date for the trial of Carolyn Brown, 20, of Fort Smith, who is charged with first degree murder in the case.

A third defendant, Raymond Wood, 21, of Roland, Okla., has been acquitted.

BROKEN ENGAGEMENT POSES PROBLEM

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My nephew is generously himself and has given the girl he went with wonderful presents: cedar-lined chest, the most expensive hair-dryer on the market, gold wristwatch, chest-full of solid silver flatware, a charm bracelet with eight charms costing $35 each and a handsome diamond ring.

As if that weren't enough, my sister and I being invited over to see the hope chest, bought all sorts of table linens, bed linens, bath towels to fill it — everything you'd need in a home. Then my nephew and she called it quits.

Shouldn't she, no matter what the trouble was or is between them, return all these beautiful gifts, especially all our linens? They were not for her to use with another man if I'm wrong, say so and I'll keep my mouth shut. — Auntie

Dear Auntie: You're both right and wrong. You're right according to the rules of etiquette and fair-play, but you're wrong in your expectation that your nephew's erstwhile fiancée is under any formal obligation to return her engagement presents. Webster's definition of the word "give" is: "To bestow without a return." When an engagement to be married is broken, the girl should return her engagement presents to the donors. But this is only a rule of etiquette, not a legal statute.

Don't worry about the gifts your nephew showered on the girl. Unless he can redeem them in gentlemanly fashion, he'll have to cross them off as a bad investment, not even tax deductible.

As for the linens, I'm afraid your only recourse is an attitude of righteous but silent indignation.

Dear Helen: I'm no good as a wife — so my husband says — and he threatens to look up another woman. Since we have two little boys, one five months old and the other two, I want our marriage to last. But with him talking like this, how can it?

I'm only 21 and other men think me attractive. Their interest strikes a responsive note in me whereas my husband leaves me cold. We did love one another, now we snap and yap constantly. Nothing is wrong with me physically, except I just don't respond to him nor he to me.

Three other women in our neighborhood have the same problem. The husband of one is already going out with another girl. She doesn't know it. I'd hate to see this happen in our home. What can I do — Apprehensive

Dear Apprehensive: Many husbands, and yours is evidently no exception, have an unrealistic attitude toward marriage. They think a wife should be ever-loving, undemanding and a perfectionist at homemaking. When she falls short of this ideal, the husband subconsciously beats a retreat, penalizing his wife in the most primitive way he knows how — that of sexual starvation.

Countless books have been written on the problem; two of the best are "Sex Without Guilt," and "Creative Marriage," by Albert Ellis and Robert Harper. The latter has just been published. Give your husband a copy and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: Three girl friends (we are all the same age, 12) are staging a surprise party for a 12-year-old boy we know. My mother won't let me have any part in it nor allow me to attend. Do you think there is anything wrong in my going? Please print your answer. — Wondering

Dear Wondering: That depends upon where the party is to be held and who the other guests (besides your girl friends) are. Your mother must have a good reason for saying no. Ask her what it is. Suggest as an alternative that she help you arrange a party for these same friends (provided she approves of them) in your home.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Philip Clayton Dimick, 20, of Jefferson, Ore., has been charged with first degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Denver Hubbard, 23, of Van Buren.

Dimick is stationed at Fort Chaffee, near Fort Smith. Prosecutor Lyman Mikel said Hubbard was stabbed Friday at a pizza house at Fort Smith.

Nashville PCA Third in Arkansas

The Nashville Production Credit Association ranked third among the 14 associations in Arkansas in 1962 on the basis of the amount of farm loans made.

The PCA here also ranked third in the largest number of members with 2,166 as of December 31, 1962.

The Nashville PCA serves Howard, Sevier, Pike, Hempstead, Nevada, Clark and Hot Spring counties.

Joint Budget Committee Proposed

By GORDOWN BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has pushed through the Senate a proposal for a joint House-Senate budget committee.

The proposal died in the House on the five previous occasions that it was introduced, and its future can best be described at this time as uncertain.

McClellan believes it would help Congress do a better job of appropriating and thus cut government costs. The House Appropriations Committee presents the main obstacle to the bill.

More than half of the 100 Senators joined McClellan in co-sponsoring the bill and it passed the Senate by voice vote.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, opposes the proposal because he believes it infringes on the right of the House to initiate money bills.

McClellan said the bill is not designed to usurp prerogatives of the House.

Track Group Is Against AAU Handling

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The war for control of track in this country exploded anew today with the United States team that will oppose the Russians in Moscow in July caught squarely in the fall-out.

In the latest move in the alphabet soup battle the nation's largest College Athletic Conference, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, in effect ruled that its athletes should not compete in the national Amateur Athletic Union track championships where the U.S. team for Russia will be picked.

In California there were indications the powerful Big Six Conference would follow suit and Payton Jordan who will coach the U.S. team against Russia said he move might cancel the trip to Moscow.

The AAU leveled a charge that the colleges who are battling the old amateur organization for track control are out to wreck the American team and will be glad to do so.

Asa Bushnell ECAC commissioner promptly denied the charges and said his group wanted its athletes to compete in the AAU nationals "but we want them to do so under procedures established" at a peace negotiations session with Gen. Douglas MacArthur March 12.

The AAU also said that only one college athlete so far has entered the national championships. C. K. Yang of Formosa the decathlon world record holder who is not eligible for the U.S. team.

The AAU also called for a new ruling on the dispute from General MacArthur who patched up the shaky peace that exists between the AAU and the U.S. Track and Field Federation the rival group sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The latest flareup came when the ECAC reversed its field and asked its members to stay out of AAU championships unless the AAU asked the Federation for sanction.

The AAU contends that this is dual sanction and flatly refuses. College athletic directors in the area immediately said they would comply with the ECAC request and pull their athletes out of AAU meets including the New York Athletic Club games next Saturday.

The AAU nationals are scheduled for St. Louis June 20-21. The U.S. team for Russia will be picked there.

If the colleges boycott the meet the U.S. team will probably be overwhelmed by the Russians who have never yet beaten an American men's team. The colleges control most of the top runners at the shorter distances.

Honor Guard Takes Station

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Palatine Guard of Honor put on its rich blue uniforms and plumed busby hats when Pope John died and took up by custom stations throughout the Apostolic Palace.

The Palatine Guard numbers about 100. Its members come from Rome's aristocratic Roman Catholic families. They serve without pay at papal functions taking time off from their regular occupations.

Hitters Seem Far Behind the Pitchers

By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Isn't it about time the hitters started catching up with the pitchers?

This season's trend of the men on the mound dominating the men with the bats continued Monday night as three right-handers strongarmed their way to impressive victories in the only major league action.

Fireballing Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts became the latest to threaten the no-hit barrier holding the Los Angeles Dodgers hitless for 7-1-3 innings in a 2-1 triumph over the slumping National League contenders.

The 20-game loser of last season backed by rookie Rusty Staub's first big league homer finished with a two-hit job and the Dodgers finished with their fifth straight loss.

Eddie Fisher turned in a four-hit shutout as the Chicago White Sox climbed to within five percentage points of the American League lead with a 4-0 decision over the Los Angeles Angels.

Dave Wickersham also threw a four-hitter pitching the Kansas City Athletics to victory over the Minnesota Twins 4-1. The Twins' only run was unearned as they fell to the A's for the sixth time in seven games this year.

Farrell allowed his former club just three walks before the no-hit spell was broken with one out in the eighth inning.

Dick Tracowski was the culprit with a clean single to center. Then in the ninth Jim Gilliam led off with a triple and eventually scored on Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly.

The burly fast-baller now is 5-6. Staub connected for a 400-foot shot following a walk to Carl Warwick in the fourth for the decisive blow off Don Drysdale who struck out 13 and gave up seven hits in seven innings as his record fell to 6-6.

The loss dropped the Dodgers into a third-place tie with the Chicago Cubs four games back of San Francisco and two behind St. Louis.

Despite Fisher's fine pitching and their rise in the AL standings the White Sox' victory at Los Angeles proved costly. Joe Cunningham's slick-hitting first baseman broke his right collarbone when he tripped over first running out a grounder and is expected to be out at least two months.

Fisher's shutout came in his first complete game in nine starts this year and boosted the White Sox into a second-place tie with Baltimore.

The White Sox nicked Bob Turley for eight of their nine hits and all four of their runs in five innings-plus.

A fifth inning homer by Doc Edwards gave Wickersham and Kansas City a 1-0 margin over Camilo Pascual and the Twins through seven innings then the A's pushed across three more against reliever Ray Moore—with the help of a costly error by right fielder Bob Allison.

Smith Wins Way Back in British Meet

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Charles Smith of Gastonia, N.C., playing with an ailing back, won his way into the second round but two of his Walker Cup teammates, Billy Joe Patton and Bob Gardner, bowed in major upsets today in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Patton, the long hitter from Morganton, N.C., was knocked out by James Pirie, Scottish milkman who is only a week-end golfer. Billy Joe three-putted the final green to give Pirie a 1-up victory. Gardner from Essex Fells, N.J., went down before Dick Smith of Scotland, 2 and 1.

Charles Smith played steady golf in beating Marshal Douglas of Scotland, 4 and 2.

Speedway Meet Makes Them Happy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Sponsors who dug up $55,000 in guarantees for the Speedway Festival golf tournament were complacent today about the frightful beating par was taking on their sycamore-studded public course.

They were outspokenly unhappy because such pro circuit stars as Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler weren't on hand to challenge Dow Finsterwald and Julius Boros, who were tied for the lead going into today's final round with 11-under-par 200s.

Jim Ferrier, who set a tourney and course record of 61 Sunday, and Tommy Aaron, who lost a playoff to Tony Lyma in the Memphis Open last week, were a stroke off the pace at 201.

John David, the tourney chairman, former Purdue golf captain and many times Indiana amateur champion, complained: "We could have had a good field for a $30,000 purse. So many name players staying away is unfair to the sponsors."

Ferrier's 31-30-61 Sunday against par 35-36-71 was the lowest on the 1963 PGA tour and only one stroke off the PGA record of 60.

Finsterwald, who hasn't won a tour tournament since the 1960 New Orleans Open, put together an eagle, six birdies and a bogey in a 64 round to go with a pair of 68s the first two days.

Fred Hawkins shot a 69 for the second straight day after an opening 64 and was only 2 strokes off the pace. Lema and Bob Duden had 203s and 15 players had 206 or better.

Many TV Shows Have Little Chance

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Somebody (and I think it was Richard Boone) a couple of seasons back when he was getting bored playing Paladin year after year) wearily suggested a law limiting any television series to a maximum life of three seasons.

This viewer, having spent the past season flipping dials and sampling programs, now wishes there were a law giving every program a full season in which to creep into the hearts and habits of the public before a decision is made about its continuation.

But, alas, in network television, if a series fails to grab an enormous audience—according to the rating services' estimates—a couple of months after its debut, its fate is sealed.

NBC's "Sam Benedict," now on reruns and due to disappear in September, is a case in point. It began as a breathlessly busy show, with one major plot and two or three sub plots in each episode, and left the viewer tired and dizzy. Then it slowed down, improved and simplified its story lines and after a couple of months became a good, entertaining show — not great, but okay.

Speaking of lawyers, the season's record for sudden death has been chalked up by NBC's legal soap opera, "Ben Jerrod." It made its debut in April. It died at the end of this month.

That roving "Route 66" show on CBS has its problems trying to dig up new dangers for its heroes each week in a different town. Too often on Friday nights the series turns up with a story pegged to a theme of small-town suspicion, ignorance and intolerance.

Last week's episode, about a group of small-town folk ready to assault a tramp suspected of bringing tick fever into town, was typical. It's not a very nice image the series projects, nor, one suspects, a fair one.
